Danville, with Evans, a new pitcher, who has had big league experience, beat Richmond yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 1. Ellil, who went in to twirl for the Lawmakers, was swatted three times in five limings, and was just a trifle wild. He was relieved in the sixth inning, but at this lime enough runs had been made to win the same Baive pitched four innings of great ball, allowing not a score, and permitting but two of the Tobacconists to connect with his southpaw twists. In the ninth inning he struck out two men and forced the third one to send a little dinky one to the infield, which was handled all right. The two hits secured off him came in the eighth inning, Kurlage and McKenzie securing them. They didn't count for anything, however, for no man placed his understanding on the home plate.

Benny Put Off Field. Benny Put Off Field.

Benny Put Off Field.

Catcher Benny, of the Danville team, was put out of the game, fined, and made to leave the grounds in the second inning, when he is said to have sassed Umpire Newhouse. Just the exact language he used is hardly printable, and Henny left the game. He got to kicking after this, and Newhouse promptly called for an officer who was on the bench, and Benny went from the grounds. Policeman Bryant saw that he left the diamond and the grounds. The incident was over with in a few minutes, and the spectators never knew what had been said. Benny kicked because Umpire Newhouse called Hicka safe at third base when the hall was thrown from the field, where Shaffer had planked it out. The decision was a close one, but in so far as it assisted Danville there was no difference, for the runner didn't score, the next man going out.

One Tally in Eighth.

Richmond scored her first run in the sighth inning, and had an opportunity to get some more taillies, but Evans had them all biting at his quick delivery ball. With a man on third and another on second, and only one out in this inning. Evans struck out Blotrie and Doran, two or the safest hitters on the Richmond team. This ended all hope for the Lawmakers. The grandstand had risen and the shouts were being heard until these two people fanned, From that time on it was all over, there never being another like chance to tie the score. And the one run that did come across was made by Balve, who left second base at the crack of the batsman's bat, and came around the bases. Powell, in left field for the Tobacconists, dropped the fly, and thereby saved Richmond a shut-out. Had he have beld the ball Ji double play would have been very easy, for Salve was past third when the sphere struck in his hands.

It Started Wrong.

It Started Wrong.

The game didn't start off right for the Richmonders. Powell was the first man to face the Colonel, and Powell received one in the ribs which entitled him to a to face the Colonel, and Powell received one in the ribs which entitled him to a sent at the initial sack. Then Henn, that chicken that did such terrific work with the stick in Thursday's game, interpried a hint. Still threw to second, for child, Powell, and the throw was beld. Hath, men were safe. Beggy walked, and the hases were full. Fetzor sent a hot one to Reeves, but Powell scored on the throw to first. Doyle and Zurlage killed the microbes, and the first paralytic stroke had passed.

Everything went along all right for the Lawmakers until the fourth inning, when two litts and a base on balls gave the visitors a couple of runs. In the fifth inning Cuddy got wobbly with his mitts and missed two easy ones, with the result that one man came across.

After this Salvei went in the box and held the batters down until the ninth inning, when the game, perforce, stopped. This afternoon there will be another hot proposition of baseball handed out to the Richmond fans, and Drew will likely be in the box. Danville will pitch Winston or one of their new finds. The official score:

.GO IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

The Yankee Delights in the Trotting Horse, and Wants to Bet on Events.

Before the first sod was turned or bush cut down to prepare the big race course at Salem, N. H., thoughtful people wondered whether the enterprise could be made to pay. The promoters seemed to have no doubt about it, and went ahead spending money by the hundred thousand spending meney by the hundred thousand to make the best track in the country. In due time the races began, and the results are now known. They are precisely what the thoughful people anticipated. New Englanders have yet to acquire the taste for running races. They have been brought up to know and appreciate horse trots, and to make them know and appreciate horse trots, and to make them know and appreciate horse trots, and to the expensive to the teachers. The fact that betting is forbidden at the track keeps away the crowd whose interest in the horses is centered in the opportunity to place money upon them. This element is probably larger than running race advocates admit, and it includes the majority of people making a business of raising horses for speed. Prohibition of betting has killed the trotting sport in New Hampshire as well as prevented the success of the new track. Whether a combination of the two interests can secure a modification of the law so as to permit betting under certain conditions, is yet to be determined. If it fairl, the key may as well be turned in the look of Rockingham Park and thrown away.—

MATTER AIRED IN THE COURTS

Owner Spirited Horse Away and Race Went to "Orlando."

The history of the turf contains many stories of fraud, but none more audacious and impudent than that associated with the Derby of 1844, which has been described as the most sensational race on record—at least in its developments. The Derby of that year was won, as the records tell, by "Mr. A. Wood's Running Rein, by Saddler, out of Queen Mab, by Duncan Groy," ridden by Main. The same horse had won a two-year-old race at Newmarket in the previous autumn, and it was then rumored that he was a year older than was claimed, and wifen he romped in first in the Derby, Colonel Peel, whose horse, Orlande, ran second, promptly lodged an objection against the winner and obtained an injunction against the payment of the stakes to Mr. Wood until the dispute had been settled in the law courts. Messrs. Weatherby accordingly paid the stakes into court, and left Mr. Wood and Colonel Peel to fight the matter out. matter out.

Maccabbeus Winner.

Maccabbeus Winner.

Colonel Peel's contention was that the winner of the Derby was none other than Maccabbeus, a four-year-old horse bred by Sir Charles Ibbetson, and thus disqualified by age for the Derby, And so wealously and successfully did he and Lord George Bentinck colket evidence that when the great action Wood against Peel came on for hearing before Baron Alderson, at Westminster, they were in a position to provet their case up to the hilt. Scarcely ever has a cause celebre greated so much excitement. The court was crowded to suffocation. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance, and feeling ran dangerously high. After counsel had opened the case for the plaintiff the judge very sensibly suggested, "produce your horse and let him be examined by experts. That is the best answer to the whole question," and the case was adjourned for the production of Running Rein on the following day. When the next day dame, however nightiff's counsel had to confess that the horse was nowhere to be found—it had been spirited away. Whereupon Baron Alderson was furious. "This is horse stealing," his exclaimed, "a case for the Central Criminal Court; and if I try the parties and they are convicted, I'll transport them for life, to a deal certainty." Under the circrimstances, Mr. Wood willidrew his action, stailing that a gross fraud had bein practiced on him by his rascally trainer. A verdict was given for Colonel Peel, and Orlando was given for Colonel Peel, and Orlando was given for Colonel Real, and Colonel Real, and Orlando was given for Colonel Real, and Orlando was gincluded to the Colonel Real, and Orlando was given for Colonel Re
